

Leicester History Network

ENGAGE | CHALLENGE | INSPIRE

Leicester Teaching School are pleased to offer this exciting opportunity for Teachers, History Subject Leaders and Curriculum Leaders to come together and share best practice, and learn more about the resources and opportunities on offer for History.

The Leicester History Network is a friendly, experienced and passionate group of History teachers and Subject Leads from across the City and County, committed to working together and sharing ideas and good practice for the benefit of all students. They meet regularly to share resources and debate, challenge and collaborate. Co-ordinated by Ashley Bartlett, colleagues from both primary and secondary schools are welcome.

Jim Butler (Former teacher who has developed educational resources and programmes for museums across the country)

Hidden Histories of Leicester

There isn't an acre of our county where, in the past, somebody hasn't previously lived, worked or died. Even schools in the most modern housing estates will be surrounded by hidden histories, beneath the very streets and houses your pupils and students call home.

◆ Wednesday, 25th November 2020

Alf Wilkinson (Author of GCSE Texts and former Historical Association Lead)

Local History through old adverts

Using Trade Directories to challenge the accepted version of Victorian and Edwardian history using examples from Lincolnshire and Leicestershire

◆ Wednesday, 3rd February 2021

Ben Walsh (Author, Examiner and Associate VP of Historical Association and Trust Wide Subject Lead for History, David Ross Education Trust)
